Maybe you think you are not a soldier, that you have never become and that you never intend to become a member of the militia. Well, right there is where you are wrong, that is if you are over sixteen years old and have not yet passed forty-five. We are all soldiers, or soon will be. One house of Congress has already passed, and the other probably will pass, a law saying so. We have no choice in the matter. The law says every male citizen over sixteen and under forty-five shall belong to the militia. Why leave out the females? Most of them would make much better soldiers than a lot of men we know.

General Luke E. Wright, of Memphis, Tenn., is to succeed Taft as Secretary of War probably about July 1st, according to a statement made by a man who is Wright's close personal friend and associate. Wright is a Democrat. The selection is regarded by the few politicians in Washington who have heard of it as one of the cleverest political moves ever made by the President. It is conceded to be a powerful bid for Democratic support for the Republican ticket and a well planned attempt to break the "solid South." It is stated that Taft will retire from the Cabinet as soon as he is nominated for the Presidency.

Although no definite announcement has been made it is generally understood that Representative Theodore Burton of Ohio will fall the lot of making the nominating speech for Secretary Taft at Chicago. Burton is considered the logical selection, and no other name has been mentioned in this connection. It is expected Secretary Taft will within a day or two formally and personally invite Burton to make the speech. The managers of the Taft campaign are united in their opinion that Burton should have the job.

following opinion: "There is no statute in the law of Arkansas prohibiting a woman from wearing overalls when she does not disguise as a man. It may be that the wearing of them by a woman is at some time desirable, since there is a time for all things, but personally and individually I hope it will not become a general and prevailing style."

James C. Dahlman, Omaha's "cowboy mayor" and a close friend of William J. Bryan, has announced himself as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of Nebraska. He will begin a thirty days whirlwind campaign immediately after the Denver convention.

where he will go as a national committeeman.

Profiting by the experience of the German Protos car, which by choosing the railway bed of the trans-Siberian line for its route instead of the government road, is now ahead in the race to Paris, the Thomas car has left Nikolsk on the railroad. Though a day behind the Protos, Driver Shuster of the Thomas car, is confident of overtaking it.

Emma Goldman has declared she would not rest until she has gained the release of William Buwalda, recently sentenced to three years in prison on the charge of treason. Buwalda's offence, according to the government, was in shaking hands and sympathizing with Miss Goldman while in the uniform of the United States army.

A city of the stone age, which antedates by thousand of years the time of America's discovery has been located under the campus of the University in California. Investigators of the Berkeley society for psychological research located the ancient city. Excavation work will begin at once.

As a result of the action of the Republican and Democratic state conventions pledging their parties to local option, the prohibitionists in Washington are in high glee and have not put a candidate in the field for the election.

Don S. Dickerson, who succeeds to the place vacant by the death of Governor John Sparks, is the youngest chief executive Nevada ever had, being only 34 years of age.
